

CONTRIBUTORS/COLLABORATEURS

Pierre Anctil presently works in the Ministère des affaires internationales, de l'immigration et des communautés culturelles, gouvernement du Québec, in Montreal. He has authored numerous works on the Jewish community of Quebec.

Rachel F. Brenner is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Hebrew and Semitic Studies, University of Wisconsin, Madison. She has published widely on Canadian Jewish literature.

Michael Brown is a Professor of Humanities at York University in Toronto. He has published a number of works on the history of Canadian Jewry, and is presently writing on the history of Zionism.

Rachel S. Levitan is a law student at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

Richard Menkis is an Associate Professor in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. He is presently conducting research on the history of religious self-definitions of Canadian Jews.

Deena Nathanson is a Ph.D. candidate in History at the University of Toronto.

Ira Robinson is a Professor in the Department of Religion at Concordia University in Montreal, and is presently completing a biography of Yudel Rosenberg.

Janice Rosen is the Director of the National Archives of Canadian Jewish Congress in Montreal.

Veronica Strong-Boag is the Director of the Centre for Research in Women's Studies and Gender Relations at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. She has published extensively on the history of Canadian women.

Harold Troper is a Professor of History at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education in Toronto. He has published numerous works in the area of immigration history, and is currently conducting research on political activism in the Canadian Jewish community.

Morton Weinfeld is a Professor of Sociology at McGill University in Montreal. He has published widely on the sociology of North American Jewry.